EVIDENCE AGAINST THREE DEFENDANTS HELD INSUFFICIENT

Judge Demands Further Evidence Incriminating Felsch, Weaver and Zork

STATE RESTS CASE WITH TESTIMONY OF MAHARG

Over-rules Motion to Dismiss Jackson-Zelcer Cases

CHICAGO, Ill.—Judge Hugo Friend Wednesday informed the state attorneys in the baseball trial that he would direct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty in the cases of "Buck" Weaver and "Hap" Felsch, former White Sox players; and Carl Zork of St. Louis unless further evidence was introduced against these men.

The judge temporarily over-ruled the defense motion to dismiss these cases when the state urged that the fendants might be incriminated by further testimony. The state dropped its case against Ben and Louis Levi of Kokomo, Ind.

Motions to dismiss the charges against Joe Jackson and David Zelcer of Des Moines, were overruled.

Defense Opens

"Zork, Weaver and Felsch may not be deeply implicated by the evidence we have presented," said Assistant State's Attorney Gorman, "but they have been brought into it. When some of these defendants take the stand they may themselves identify any or all of these three men."

The defense began its presentation of evidence Wednesday afternoon. It announced that Faber, Shalk and other White Sox stars had been ordered to return from the East, thus seriously crippling the team.

The state rested its case after Billy Maharg of Philadelphia had given testimony confirming much of Bill Burns' story of the alleged conspiracy for the Chicago White Sox players to throw the 1919 World Series.

Maharg, who was intimate with Burns and Abe Attell during the alleged sell-out, told of meetings between Burns, Eddie Cicotte, an Chick Gandil in New York, of further meetings in Cincinnati and Chicago, and of how Attell sent $10,000 to the players in Cincinnati by Burns when $40,000 was due them.

Like Burns, Maharg identified David Zelcer of Des Moines as a man he knew in the alleged conspiracy as Bennett.

ILLINOIS GOVERNOR AGREES TO SUBMIT HIMSELF TO ARREST

Wires Sheriff to Come to Chicago and Serve Embezzlement Warrants Upon Him

"PLENTY OF FIREWORKS" PREDICTED BY FRIENDS

Situation Quiet Wednesday Pending Developments

CHICAGO, Ill.—Faced with the refusal of Sheriff Henry Mester of Sangamon county to come to Chicago and arrest Governor Len Small, the governor and his legal advisers went into conference to plan the next step in his fight against trial under the indictments returned at Springfield last Wednesday.

If the Sangamon county authorities can be persuaded to make the arrest here it is understood arrangements have been made to apply to a Cook county court for a writ of habeas corpus. If the writ were issued the attorney general would be required to show proof why the governor should stand trial and in event of a ruling in favor of Mr. Small, the indictments would then be rendered void.

CHICAGO Ill.—With friends of Governor Len Small predicting "plenty of fireworks within the next forty-eight hours," there was a lull Wednesday in the situation growing out of Small's offer to surrender himself to arrest on warrants charging him with embezzlement of state funds while state treasurer.

A telegram sent from Chicago Tuesday to Henry Mester, sheriff at Springfield, stating that the governor would be at the Chicago office of Albert Fink, his attorney, to submit himself to arrest Wednesday brought a reply from Sheriff Mester that he would not come to Chicago to serve warrants and stating that Governor Small could give bond in Springfield at his convenience.

If a warrant is served on the governor, either at Chicago or Springfield, it is presumed that he will permit himself to remain in custody while habeas corpus proceedings are instituted to bring the case to a quick issue by requiring Attorney General Brundage to show proof why the governor should submit himself to a criminal trial.

CENTRAL PURCHASING DEPARTMENT IS PLAN OF BUDGET DIRECTOR

WASHINGTON.—An executive order to co-ordinate purchasing for the navy, and shipping board, and permit transfer of surplus supplies from one government agency to another, was signed Wednesday by President Harding. It was drafted under Director Dawes of the Budget bureau and divides the country into zones corresponding to army corps areas for supply purchasing with a general purchasing agent for each area, all working under a purchasing supervisor in Washington.

BASIS FOR PEACE PARLEY NOT YET FOUND--DEVALERA

Irish Leader and Colleagues Seek Common Ground on Which Factions Can Meet

PLAN ADVANCED FOR FOUR LEGISLATURES IN IRELAND

Would Function Under Central National Parliament

DUBLIN.—By The Associated Press.—Eamonn De Valera, the Irish republican leader, and his colleagues have not yet found a basis for the proposed conference with the British government on the Irish question in London, but are continuing to search for a common ground on which the contending parties can meet, it was stated in a well informed quarter here Wednesday.

Plan Four Legislatures

LONDON.—The possibility that four legislatures may be established in Ireland—one each in the provinces of Ulster, Munster, Connaught, and Leinster—under a central national parliament, is hinted at Wednesday by Sketch, which says:

"It need not be assumed, as is done in some quarters, that under unification there would be only two governing authorities under a federal Irish parliament. It has been almost overlooked that there are four great provinces in Ireland, each with an historical individuality."

In relation to Sketch's information which, incidentally, reiterates some earlier reports, the statement is made, somewhat disconnectedly, that subject to a satisfactory solution of the Irish unification problem, Eamonn De Valera has intimated that he will not renew the campaign for an independent Irish republic, and also that he will not seek to raise an army or navy or the right to enter into relations with foreign powers except to the same extent as these privileges are enjoyed by the self-governing dominions of the British empire.

LASKER APPEALS TO CONGRESS FOR FUNDS FOR SHIPPING BOARD

WASHINGTON. — Chairman Lasker of the shipping board Wednesday asked the house appropriation committee for an immediate $125,000,000 appropriation to meet expenses during the next five months. No action was taken.

HOLD DISARMAMENT MEET IN MILWAUKEE ASKS TRADE BUREAU

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — The Milwaukee Association of Commerce on Wednesday sent a letter to Charles E. Hughes, secretary of state, inviting the disarmament conference to be held in Milwaukee. The association pointed out the advantages of Milwaukee for holding the meeting.

RUSSIANS HOLDING MORE THAN A SCORE OF U. S. CITIZENS

Release Must Precede Relief to Russia; Wisconsin Man Among Captives

WASHINGTON. — Formal demand for release of American prisoners in Russia has been made on the soviet authorities by Secretary Hughes. The state department was advised Wednesday that the communication had been handed to the soviet representative at Reval by Consul Albrecht.

More than a score of Americans still are being held prisoner in soviet Russia, according to the latest news received by the state department from that country. Principal among them are Mrs. Marguerite E. Harrison, of Baltimore, a newspaper correspondent; Captain Emmet Kilpatrick of Uniontown, Ala., a Red Cross worker; Royal C. Keeley, an engineer; William Flick of Brooklyn, N. Y. and Dr. W. B. Estes, motion picture photographer and X. B. Kalamatiano, of Racine, Wis.

What course will be taken by the United States if the soviet authorities ignore or refuse to accede to the demands was not indicated.

The communication was sent to Consul Albrecht, July 25. The first demand made upon the Russian authorities for the release of American prisoners is the first official representation made upon the subject, although Lenine and Trotzky and their associates have been previously advised informally of the determination of the United States not to consider relations with Russia until this was done.

Delivered to Soviet Minister

RIGA.—By The Associated Press.—An official demand by Secretary of State Hughes for the release of the American prisoners in Russia was handed by Consul Albrecht to Leonid Star, bolshevik minister in Reval Tuesday night, Maxim Gorky, it was learned, has telegraphed to John Miller, the Riga representative of the American Relief administration, saying that the communication of Herbert Hoover as head of the relief administration with regard to American relief for the ill and starving of Russia may be answered in detail.

The text of American note reads:

"The American government is advised that despite the repeated efforts of Dr. Nansen on its behalf to secure the release of the American prisoners in Russia they are still held in a most serious plight.

"In the name of humanity the American government demands of the soviet authorities that these prisoners be at once released. It is manifestly impossible for the American authorities to countenance measures for relief of the distress in Russia while our citizens are detained."

The release of the Americans held prisoner in Russia was laid down by Secretary Hoover in his recent cable message to Gorky as the prime condition upon which American relief measures for Russia would be taken up.

SMITH CHILDREN OFFER A PROBLEM FOR JUDGE HUNT

Boy Tells of Crocks in Home and Supplies of Raisins Received by His Father

ALSO SEES SALE OF TWO BOTTLES OF THE PRODUCT

Question of Who Shall Have Custody of Children is Open

THE Smith children, Clarence and Lawrence, for the possession of whom their parents have been battling in Judge Hunt's court for three days, will not be given into the custody of either parent until August 8, when orders for attorneys' fees, court fees and the custody of the children pending the settlement of the divorce action just brought by Mrs. Ida Smith, the mother, against Jacob L. Smith, the father, are heard.

In the meantime, the children will be in the custody of the sheriff. Sheriff Miller plans to send the boys to the Kiddie Kamp, conducted by D. C. Dewey of the Rescue Mission, near New Amsterdam. The sheriff objected strenuously before Judge Hunt to having the boys kept at the jail all of that time. He declared it was no fit place to keep children, where they would hear the talk and see the actions of prisoners. The court, and lawyers for both sides, agreed to this plan of having the children sent to the Kiddie Kamp.

When called to testify Wednesday morning, Clarence Smith, who is 12 years old, told of the whippings he had received from his father, of having to pick coal last winter when the supply of fuel ran short and there was no money to buy more and of having to get up mornings at 5 or 5:30 and prepare breakfast for his father while the latter remained in bed until 7 o'clock.

Tells of Brew

The lad also described the quantities of raisins, prunes and figs that were received at the father's house, the place where Smith is now living, on the Bonsack farm in the town of Burns. Clarence also asserted that his father bought two crocks, one of five gallon capacity and the other six gallons. He also said that shortly after the crocks and fruit arrived that the jars had foam on the top of them and that the crocks were filled with a watery mixture. Lawrence, the younger brother, when on the stand described the mixture in the crocks as being of brown color.

The older boy also told of seeing a young man of Sparta come to the house, get two bottles filled with the stuff in the crocks and pay his father $12. Under cross examination by Albert C. Wolfe, attorney for the father, the boy said he was in bed but was not asleep when the transaction was made, and that he saw the bills and heard his father count the money out loud.

The boy, however, said he had never seen any moonshine made in the house, that the raisins, prunes and figs were there one night and that was the last he saw of them as he worked for several days after that helping Bonsack hoe corn.

Wear Dirty Clothes

Mrs. Smith, in her testimony, had said that when she went to visit her children in Sparta last Christmas time, they were wearing underwear that they had worn all winter, that they had never been out of it day or night. She said they had not been bathed, either, and that it was necessary to use oil and scrape the dirt from their legs, as cleaning mixtures apparently had no effect on it. The older boy testified that his father hadn't given him a bath last winter for several months. He also said that he had had two suits of underwear.

Letters that the boys wrote to their mother were introduced by Quincy Hale, attorney for Mrs. Smith, and were identified by the boys and read by them to the court. In the notes they wrote that their father "had been mean to them and if mother didn't come for them they would run away."

Wants Them Kept Here

Judge Hunt said he was of the opinion that the mother should have the custody of the children, but the fact that Mrs. Smith intended to take the children with her to Minneapolis and out of the jurisdiction of the county and state courts, puzzled the judge as to what disposition to make of the children. Albert Wolfe, for the father, contended that, disregarding any moral, sentimental or other reason, the children should be kept in the jurisdiction of the circuit court of La Crosse.

At this point Quincy Hale announced that Mrs. Smith had already taken

C.—A communiration from Tokio believed to contain the formal acceptance by Japan of President Harding's invitation to participate in an international discussion of Far Eastern questions as well as disarmament, reached the state department Wednesday. TURKS AT ROPE'S END APPEAL TO ALLIES TO STOP GREEK ADVANCE

Losses in Dead, Wounded and Captured, are 60,000

LONDON.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish nationalist government, has sent a telegram to Constantinople asking that the central government intervene with the allies in an effort to obtain a cessation of the Greek-Turkish hostilities, according to dispatches from Constantinople to the Exchange Telegraph company.

Resistance Broken

ATHENS.—Information from all sources indicates that resistance of the Turkish nationalists in Asia Minor is completely broken, the Greek official news agency declares in a statement issued here Wednesday.

BLAIR AT WORK ON RULES TO REGULATE BEER SALE TO SICK

Policy of U. S. Dry Enforcement Office to be Announced Within Near Future

WASHINGTON. — Announcement by internal revenue commissioner Blair of his policy on the question of medicinal beer regulations will be made in the next few days. He is now definitely deciding, officials said Wednesday, whether the regulations should be issued at this time or deferred because of probable early action by the senate on the Willis-Campbell bill to prohibit its prescribing of beer by doctors.

The commissioner also is working out the final form the beer regulations might take which, it is understood, would provide in general for prescriptions of one case at one time, but without limit as to the number of prescriptions. According to Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, however, the probability of the eventual issuance of beer regulations is slight. There was apparently little desire on the part of brewers, he said, to obtain the regulations in view of the pending hostile legislation.

Bonus Campaign Can't Be Downed Harding Is Told

WASHINGTON.—The American Legion served notice on President Harding Wednesday that the campaign for adjusted compensation for veterans "cannot be downed," the message being delivered in person by Gilbert Bettman, chairman of the national legislative committee of the organization.

RAIN WORTH MILLIONS FALLS OVER WISCONSIN DURING NIGHT AND DAY

A rain which farmers say is worth many millions of dollars is falling over a large section of Wisconsin today, according to reports received by the weather bureau here.

While La Crosse got only seventeen-hundredths of an inch of rain last night, over two inches fell at Red Wing and other up river points and the storm, continuing through the night, is general over this state today.

Farmers say this rain will save the potato and corn crops and restore pastures.

TAX REVISION TO SUPERSEDE TARIFF IN U. S. SENATE

Agreement to Take up Tax Legislation First Reached at White House Conference

SENATE LEADERS GUESTS OF PRESIDENT AT A DINNER

Tariff Bill Won't be Reported by House Before Five Weeks

WASHINGTON.— Virtual Aggreement was said to have been reached at a dinner conference at the white house Tuesday night for senate consideration of tax revision legislation before the permanent tariff act is taken up by that body. A number of senators were President Harding's guests and the legislative situation was said to have been discussed extensively.

White house officials had nothing to say about the conference and it was understood Mr. Harding himself had forbidden advance announcement of his plan to consult his former associates in the senate. They were said to have advised him that the finance committee would not have the house tariff bill ready for consideration short of five or six weeks, and it was on this showing that a concensus of opinion around the dinner table that tax revision should be given precedence was said to have been disclosed.

The president was told, it was said, that the tariff bill would require working over to a hitherto unexpected extent. American valuation provisions in the bill were discussed by the diners and there were reports today that the president did not favor the policy but comment on that phase was refused.

The railroad question and funding of allied loans also were talked over during the dinner as well as summer recess possibilities for congress.

President Harding told his guests he hoped both branches of congress could recess from the middle of August to the latter part of September or the first of October, but was represented as opposed to any recess of either body until the tax revision bill has passed the house, leaving the senate finance committee to work on both tax and tariff measures during the recess.

Senate leaders said today that all proposals for a recess would be abandoned, until the tax bill came from the house, probably within a fortnight, and making adjournment of both bodies possible about the middle of August.

JAMES HARDER IN ACCIDENT AT SIXTH AND MAIN STREETS

The corner of Sixth and Main streets was the scene of a second automobile accident Wednesday morning about 7 o'clock when James Harder, turning a short corner it is alleged, into north Sixth street, struck a motorcycle traveling west on Main street, according to the report of the police. The name of the motorcycle driver was not learned.

The police reported that no injuries resulted from the smash but that the motorcycle was damaged to considerable extent. Harder will be arraigned in police court Thursday morning, it was said, on the charge of turning a short corner.

INCREASE INCOME TAX RATE TO RAISE TEACHERS' FUND

Incomes Over $3,000 to be Taxed One-sixth More to Take Care of Retirement Fund

INHERITANCE TAX RATES DOUBLED BY LEGISLATURE

Only Two Important Revenue-Raising Bills Survived

MADISON, Wis.—The tax assessed on 1920 incomes over $3,000 will be increased one-sixth due to application of the surtax feature of the teachers' retirement fund law which has taken immediate effect, the tax commission announces. Slightly over $1,000,000 will be added to state revenue through the increased rate.

Summary of the tax laws adopted by the past session of the legislature and approved by Governor Blaine, shows that the revenue raising feature of the retirement fund law, and the doubling of the inheritance tax rates were the only two important revenue measures to survive.

The surtax on the teachers' bill was the only one to prove acceptable to both the governor and the legislature, although a similar feature was attached to the park bills vetoed by the executive. This method of raising revenue, backed by the administration, was defeated in general form, and when attempt was made to attach it to the university and normal school bills.

Doubling of inheritance tax rates, coupled with the recent supreme court decision holding that insurance was taxable as income, will mean that approximately $1,000,000 will be added to the revenue of the state, based on past experience. The Schlesinger estate alone, now being settled, will bring over $1,000,000 to the treasury.

Changes in the general property tax laws by the past legislature include the exemption of totally uncleared land up to 40 acres, from taxation, provided it is being settled by a homesteader actually residing on the tract. The exemption is for three years.

Lands owned by homes for feebleminded, up to 160 acres, are exempt from the general property tax in a like manner, as a result of passage of another bill. Further exemption is granted up to $750 on all wearing apparel, ornaments and jewelry, representing an increase from $200 which formerly was in effect.

County boards are required to levy an annual tax, in addition to all others, sufficient to care for needy soldiers, sailors and marines who performed war service, and for their families. Any balance remaining at the end of the year is to be used as a fund for carrying out the same purpose the ensuing year.

The Nye bill, passed after a hard fight in the assembly, permits tax payers to postpone payment six months if able to show that they are not in a position to pay at the time the assessment is due. This proposal was backed by the tax commission.

Further changes in the income tax laws permit county treasurers to accept payment from individuals and corporations in advance. Contributions or gifts to corporations operating within the state are exempt providing that no part of the gift inures to the benefit of any individual or stockholder.

The dog tax law is changed so that the charge against male dogs is now $1 a year and that against females $3. This change was brought about through insistence of the farmer members who were generally dissatisfied with the old law.

These changes represent the important alterations made by the legislature in tax laws. There was very little attempt to tamper with existing statutes which provide for raising state revenue.

GRAIN MEN'S SOCIETY TO SIGN NO CONTRACTS WITH THE ELEVATORS

FARGO, N. D.—No contract for handling the 1921 wheat crop will be signed with elevators in North Dakota by the United States Grain Growers, Incorporated, after August 1, according to announcement by A. L. Burdick, a director of the growers.

Individual contracts for this year's crop will be signed, however, as long as farmers care to make them, he adds.

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—A capias for the arrest of John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, was issued in court here late Tuesday by Judge Marshall Brown, with special bail fixed at $3,000.

NIGHT SESSIONS TO BE HELD TO SPEED UP BASEBALL TRIAL

State Expected to Close its Case With Testimony of Billy Maharg

CHICAGO, Ill.—The state entered its final half of the ninth inning in the baseball trial while court machinery was being speeded up by convening earlier in the morning and holding night sessions beginning Wednesday night in order to allow the defense to come to the bat as soon as possible.

Billy Maharg of Philadelphia, known as the "man of mystery," and whom the defense contends is "Peaches" Graham—Maharg spelled backwards—ex-Cub catcher, was to testify Wednesday for the state to corroborate the testimony of Bill Burns, former White Sox pitcher, concerning the alleged conspiracy between former White Sox players and alleged gamblers to throw the 1919 world series to Cincinnati.

The state was expected to close its case with Maharg's testimony although it was admitted Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis player, might testify. If he does not, he may be used by the state in rebutal testimony.

The defense has announced that it will move to dismiss the cases again Carl Zork of St. Louis, and Ben and Louis Levi of Kokomo, Ind. alleged gamblers, on the ground that insufficient evidence has been presented against them.

The defense has a long list of witnesses and defense testimony will take at least one week and perhaps two, it was expected. At least four former White Sox players will testify for the defense, these including Chick Gandil, Buck Weaver, Swede Risberg, and Hap Felsch. "Dutch" Ruether, who pitched the first game for Cincinnati in the 1919 series has also been subpoenaed.

IN DAY OF TROUBLE

IN the day of my trouble I will call upon thee: for Thou wilt answer me.—Psalms 86: 7.

Where Sol is Solomon

"A BIG dose of organization is what farmers need today. . . . You should be co-workers, not competitors; your interests, your problems are all alike. You do not need a series of societies fighting each other, many leaders abusing each other, but one strong organization led by leaders who work in harmony, who have no petty selfish interests at stake, who are highly capable and sincerely earnest. . . . Stick to your village merchant; patronize your home butcher; get friendly with the town banker, he's always ready to help and advise. . . . . The really successful farmer is not the one who has the most contented cows; it's the one who has the happiest wife. . . . . There is no reason why farmer boys should flock to the cities. Make your homes as attractive as possible. Make your villages live and bustling and energetic, and you'll find the young people staying at home."

Above are excerpts of an address which Sol Levitan, Madison banker, has been delivering to farmers, as reported by Chester C. Platt, editor of The Wisconsin Leader, the Non-partisan newspaper organ of Wisconsin. The address of Mr. Levitan is well worth reading. In it he seems to aim to let farmers know some things which he has found out in a long life of active business. His is a friendly message, from one who knows, to again quote, that "to tell the farmers that dismal days are upon them when it doesn't pay to milk the cows, when it doesn't pay to take hides to market, when it doesn't pay to plant the potatoes" is "like slapping a man on his sunburnt back". Whether his comment is part of the campaign, recently announced, "to fully establish the Non-partisan league in Wisconsin," one can not say, but if it is, one must feel that Mr. Levitan discounts much that has been done and wants the league to proceed upon more practical lines. As a banker and merchant, closely in touch with the channels of world information, he is in a position to give sound advice.

For instance, Mr. Levitan makes it plain that in his opinion there are no legislative panaceas for the farmer. By advising them to do many things for themselves, he indicates that in his judgment a farmers' movement should not be purely political. If it is to succeed it must begin with the study of how farmers can improve their own conditions by individual effort and by co-operation. From such studies they can find what they can do themselves, and what legislation will help them, as distinguished from the political flub-dub that promises to milk the cows by statutory enactment. He realizes the impracticability of farmers engaging in other lines of business. He wants each community to build up its own village, to support its merchants and banks and win support from them, and to make it so attractive that farm wives will be happy and farm boys contented to stay on the farm. Evidently he wants the farmers to develop through a single organization the practical features of the Farm bureaus, the Equity and the Nonpartisan league, and to discard such impractical features as they possess. He knows that the farm movement failed in North Dakota for the same reason that the bolshevist movement failed in Russia—because each went far outside the scope of the competence and especial knowledge of its members, undertook to set up group instead of general standards, and attempted things foreign to their training and damaging to their interests. Nor does he overlook the perils to be encountered when the farmers lose sight of their own specific interests and problems in the excitement of purely political enterprises of which the major beneficiaries, if indeed not the profiteers, are politicians who fatten on farmer votes.

Mr. Levitan might well have added that if the farmers will join in a single, practical organization capable of understanding what they can do for themselves and what legislation they actually require, they need not waste their time and substance in political organization for the reason that, united, they can get what they need from whatever party is in power. For surely no administration would be so stupid as to reject reasonable demands backed by the solid farmer vote of the country. As Mr. Levitan says, it is the division of the farmers into rival organizations that defeats them. He truly says that what they need is "a good dose of organization", and this might be better understood had he added that what will injure them most is a dose of bad organization, as for instance, the plight of North Dakota.

Pioneering

A GROUP of men representative of those responsible for educational matters in Wisconsin are planning to get together once each month in the interest of education. The names mentioned for participation are President E. A. Birge and Prof. V. A. C. Henmon of the State University; Major E. A. Fitzpatrick and William Kittle, respectively, secretary of the state board of education and the state board of normal regents; State Supt. J. M. Callahan and C. J. Anderson, his assistant, and George P. Hambrecht, director of vocational education. It is proposed that they shall "exchange experiences and plans in the interest of a harmonious, co-operative educational program for the state."

This is indeed a wise proceeding. It is apparent to all thinking people that the price at which we maintain the benefits of our decentralized system of education is a very definite loss of unity of purpose and action, and that this carries with it a loss of initiative in the formulation of policies and their promulgation with the backing which becomes effective only with authority or substantial unanimity. Loose organization always means a tendency to drift; things may be dreamed about, chatted about, even written about tentatively to see if lightning will strike, but great movements require more definite sources and for inspiration there must be the means and promise of success.

The proposed organization is voluntary, and lacks legal authority, but if it shall serve to bring into active and interested communion the best minds employed in the various branches and departments of education, looking to agreement upon methods and policies and to co-operation in their effectuation, we may eventually find here the missing initiative and unity, and perhaps the group's unofficial efforts may so bring it to the attention and recognition of the state that out of it will come the institution of legal authority. The Tribune and Leader-Press regards the plan as one of the biggest public undertakings of the year.

Civic Theaters

HIGH railroad fares have so cut into the revenues of theatrical companies that the number of shows on the road this year will be greatly reduced.

In Cleveland a theater manager is carrying out successfully the innovation of conducting a repertoire company and bringing on new stars for each week's production.

This suggests the plan of inaugurating a chain of civic theaters with repertoire companies, of which stars could make the circuit, thus enabling the people everywhere to see the best in the way of talent and drama.

IN SILK ATTIRE

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

Marfa held to a religion of hate against housework. A vain piece she, proud of her soft hands with taper fingers and filbert shaped nails. Her dream was to sit in airy fairy garments in softly lighted spaces evolving beauty from gay-colored wools and rich silks or turning glace and linen into garments fine enough for a princess. She loved rich and fine textures and had an artist's sensibility to color. Silk especially fascinated her; she gloated over her scant store of it with an approach to miser joy. In a way that was lucky all around.

Her parents were just people of the old fashion, and somewhat narrow. When she was done with school and restless in too-abundant leisure they had settled her problem by offering her wages to stay and help her mother, who was in vigorous middle age.

Neighbors had laughed at first—Marfa had a soft snap, Mrs. Lane would do all the hard things and her daughter get a tidy sum for standing by. There they reckoned without either mother or daughter. Shirking was impossible to them—Marfa did her full share. But not for love of those needing it; instead, for love of silk.

She put by her money to buy her fill of it, permitting her parents to clothe her in things fit for a working girl. So the savings mounted steadily, albeit now and then Marfa was tempted by a scarf, a length of rare weave fascinating in color and texture, a bit of satin or brocade truly royal. Nobody sought to hinder such spendings; an only daughter, even if rebellious against environment, is too precious to be crossed needlessly. Besides the elders were sympathetic toward Marfa's longings. She came by them honestly. They themselves were plain folk, but Grandma Marklen had been just the same. She had craved, saved and hoarded and at last died of shock and grief when her trunkfuls of finery were burned uninsured. Cynthy, eldest daughter, sole inheritor in her generation of grandma's passion, was thought by the two younger girls to have borrowed several especially gorgeous things just before the fire.

But she denied having them—so there the matter rested. The denying had made coolness between the sisters, but Cynthy in her city home, cared little for that.

She had married well; a widower twice her age, with an overgrown son, and a bad case of grouch. Dying a few years after, he had left her a life estate that assured her a handsome income, but nothing in fee—everything reverted to the son, who had grown out of his bulkiness but kept his resentment to Cynthy. So when Joe Lane went to work in the city, Cynthy, otherwise Mrs. Jabez Clifford, had sought him out, made him free of her home—a handsome apartment—and introduced him to her friends.

He had done her much credit among them, being clean-minded, straight, tall and supple, fresh-colored and easy in manner with the ease that comes from a very kind heart. Yet she did not encourage him to speak of home nor home affairs. "I want you all mine, while you are with me," she had said in the beginning. Hence his letters had not dwelt upon her kindness.

He was glad they had not when the trouble came—the home people might feel that he could appeal to her for help. That was, on the face of things, impossible; yet when she somehow sensed his deep disquiet, and cross-examined him cleverly, he ended by showing her his father's letter. "Son, don't jeopard your own future." It ran, "but if you can, lend me a thousand dollars or so. What I let you have when you left us was a gift outright; am not asking a penny of it back. You know why, I think, so the land might go free and clear to your sister. She may love it not better than you do, but it can't die nor run away, and can be so left to her as to make it certain she has comfort. And it insures us old folk a good living as long as we have no debts to pay.

"Now there isn't the scratch of a pen against me but with the fruit all killed, the garden-truck more than half ruined and wheat so hurt by last week's frost, the income in sight will barely pay taxes, and insurance and no matter how you save, saving isn't possible when you haven't any money.

"A thousand will tide us over beautifully—could get it on mortgage easy, but I want to die as I've lived, mortgage free. You will, I know, be glad to help me if you can with justice to yourself. That you must decide—if you are likely to hurt yourself in pocket or standing with your partners, say so like the man I hope we've made you. I know you won't think I ought to use Marfa's money, she has saved a little more than the thousand in her three years' work for us. But we know, mother and I, her heart is set on spending it for silk, and she shall have the fun of doing it no matter what happens."

Aunt Cynthia read the letter through, pursed her lips, winked hard, then said abruptly: "Joe; will you take me down there for the week-end Saturday?"

"Yes, if you care to go," Joe said restrainedly. He had hoped she might be touched; instead she seemed to think only of herself. Later by shrewd questions she learned that he could not send the money with the business situation so ticklish, his own business could spare nothing not imperatively needed, and outside borrowing would queer, not only himself but his firm. To that she nodded affirmatively but said only: "We'll go, but don't you dare give them warning. I want to see all things for myself."

All the long sunny afternoon the runabout took them through a frost-seathed world. The sunny days had brought out fully the havoc wrought—even forest trees were nipped, orchards showed as discensolate blots on the landscape—wheat that had been like green velvet was a tangle of twisted darkness with a faint yellow showing through. Even the lines of young corn were yellow tips. Joe was no land-lover, yet he groaned in spirit over the ruin.

"Farmers are the really reckless dealers in futures," he said bitterly. "They stake everything—against wind and weather, things nobody can control."

Aunt Cynthy nodded. "I'm glad you have quit the game," she said.

Marfa ran out to welcome them, bare-armed, trim and rosy, with wispy curls peeping out from her white cap and a fetching dimple at play in her left cheek. Behind came her elders, with smiles and open arms. They were maddenly cheerful for folk on the edge of ruin. Joe had written instantly, confessing himself unable to help—but here were all hands lively as crickets, with no cloud anywhere in sight.

Supper was a poem made manifest in country plenty and superlative cooking. Aunt Cynthy exclaimed over it to such an extent her sister was moved to say, pretending to sigh: "Yes—we've a fine cook—but, my, she's a pirate in petticoats! Has gone up on us a dollar a week—with wages tumbling all 'round us."

"And the worst is—we can't discharge her—you see she owns us—and the place." Mr. Lane said with a twinkle. Marfa frowned at him, but he went on: "Fact—holds a mortgage on everything—for the rest of our lives—so we can look the sheriff in the eye and make faces at the tax gatherer. Still—I'm a little afraid she'll prove rather a tyrant."

"Marfa? You never?" Joe cried, a choke in his throat. "How could you—when—when?" There he had to stop. "When you love silk so well," Aunt Cynthy finished for him. Marfa had stood up, her eyes downcast—now she ran behind her father, put her arms around his neck and said clearly: "Can't I love them better?"

After that the visit was a joyous riot. Marfa, the informing spirit of it, petted everybody. Even Aunt Cynthy—who ended by staying a fortnight. Two days before she left came a wonder-trunk for Marfa—one which disgorged rainbow miracles of silk and satin, lace and linen cambric. Underneath there were same heavy brocades, stiff and gorgeous enough for coronation robes. Mrs. Lane gasped at sight of them, but her sister said proudly, holding a creamy-gold-shot fabric next to Marfa's glowing face: "Here's the wedding gown, child——and don't you wait too long to wear it."

"Thanky, madam—I won't," Marfa said, blushing rosy-red.

Heredity

BY DR. WILLIAM E. BARTON

SURELY everyone has heard of the famous twins born in Siam and exhibited by Barnum. They were joined together in such fashion that it was never judged safe to cut them apart; and so they lived to manhood. They married and each had children. One of the twins died, and the other lived several dreadful hours afterward before death mercifully released him.

There are people who believe that all the character we have is constructed out of our hereditary traits and our experiences; that inheritance and our environment make us.

If that is so, twins ought to be more alike than they are.

But twins, ordinary twins, though born at the same birth, and having identical hereditary introduction into life, do not live together every day and hour; they have opportunity to drift apart.

Different Personalities

Not so the Siamese twins, and others of like character. Not for a single hour has either been away from the other. Their character and disposition ought to be identical.

But now we find in twins of this sort that their individuality is as marked as that of other children.

In the case of the Filipino twins, whom I saw two or three years ago, one boy was studious and the other lazy.

In the case of Christine-Milly, two grown women whom I saw and talked with, the two heads not only carried different brains but different dispositions.

The Great Element

As for the Siamese twins, Chang and Eng, one was jovial and the other morose.

When we have said all that can be said for heredity and environment, there is something in us that either makes or unmakes us. Character is not wholly a matter of environment.

Heredity is a potent force, but it can be outgrown. Environment is a help or a hindrance, but it alone does not determine whether a man shall be good or bad, a failure or a success.

The first and permanent element is the man himself.

ONE REEL YARNS

THE WOODSMEN

On one side of the street lived George Washington Brown, and immediately opposite was the home of Abraham Lincoln Johnson. On the particular morning of our visit these two young gentlemen were leaning against the picket fence of the Brown front yard, watching old Herb, who lived next door, mowing his lawn.

"Say, yo' Gawge Washington Brown, ah tell yo' ah can tell yo' a bigger black fib dan yo' can tell me!" A bright thought had stolen its way into the well-fortified mind of Abraham Lincoln Johnson.

George Accepts Challenge

"Naw, yo can't. Ah say yo' can't. Ah tell yo', yo' Abram Lincoln Johnsing, ah can tell a black fib so big yo' all can't understand it a-tall!"

The interested Herb consented to judge the contest. Abraham Lincoln Brown, originator of the idea, was first entry.

"Ah done was called Abram Lincoln Brown, after Abram Lincoln, the great rail-SPLITTER, because ah can cut up kindling wood so FAST!"

George's Fib

"Haw, Haw, Haw!" roared old Herb, who had seen young Abraham at work.

But the undaunted George Washington Brown pulled himself together and burst forth.

"Ah was done called Gawge Washington Brown, after Gawge Washington, who cut down de cherry trees, bec-cause when ah cuts up kindling wood, ah prefers to cut down all mah trees MAHSELF!"

"Haw, Haw, Haw!" roared Herb again.

Duty Calls Contestants

"Yo' young rascals, befo' ah tells yo' all who wins, ah want to say—"

But a lusty voice from inside the Brown house interrupted. "Hey, yo' George Washington, take dat axe and cut up dat wood befo' ah punches yo' head."

While, as if in echo, there came from across the street, "Hey, yo', Abram Lincoln, come back to dis woodpile or ah will beat yo' face."

"Haw, Haw, Haw!" roared old Herb, "de contestants am all DISQUALOBFIED!"

When a River Burned

An amazing scene recently occurred in the West of England, near Bath, when the River Avon was turned into a stream of flames that rose nearly fifty feet into the air, doing much damage, even roasting juicy apples that hung on trees near the banks.

For two or three days a thick coating of oil had been seen floating on the water. Then one day sparks from a rubbish fire near the bank were carried to the river by the wind and ignited the oil. In a moment the river was a sheet of roaring flame.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW? —CAN YOU USE YOUR KNOWLEDGE QUICKLY?

It is important to have a good stock of general information, but it is equally important to be able to use it quickly and accurately.

It is possible to measure exactly your ability along these lines. The following ten sentences are a real mental test of the kind used by expert students of the mind. They seem easy and look rather like a joke, but they will reveal important facts about anybody.

In each sentence check the word that makes the right sense. Stop at the end of a minute and a half.

1. The Maltese is a kind of () pig () cat () rat () dog.
2. The Mayor is an officer of the () nation () state () city () county.
3. Tennis is played with () clubs () bats () racquets () cards.
4. A rifle is used by a () lawyer () soldier () politician () plumber.
5. Tom Sawyer was written by () George Eliot () Thackeray () Dickens () Mark Twain.

The appendix is in the () leg () chest () abdomen () head.

7. The Wright brothers invented the () sewing machine () airplane () suction sweeper () army tank.
8. Pittsburgh is noted for its manufactures of () brick () soap () furniture () steel.
9. Edgar Allen Poe wrote () The Gold Bug () The Man Without a Country () Uncle Tom's Cabin () The Old Curiosity Shop.
10. The airbrake is used on an () automobile () motorcycle () motorboat () railroad train.

It would be better and more accurate to have about 40 such questions on all subjects under the sun. If you want to try out the stunt at a party, work up a bunch more of the same order. Your stock of general information and your speed and accuracy in using it may be rated by the number of correct answers to this test of ten sentences about as follows:

0 to 2, inferior ability.
3 to 4, low average.
5 to 6, average.
7 to 8, high average.
9 to 10, superior ability.

A minute and a half is the time. Most anybody can figure that out if they take long enough. To do it quickly is the real test.

Another mental test will be printed here day after tomorrow.

Don't be afraid to ask; that's the way to find out.

NAME COMMITTEE TO ESTABLISH RATES FOR PRIVATE JOB BUREAUS

Operation of Employment Agencies Regulated by Industrial Commission

MADISON, Wis. — An advisory committee to assist in drafting a schedule of reasonable rates to be charged by private employment agencies was named by the industrial commission Wednesday. The first meeting will be held in Milwaukee August 10.

Members of the committee are Senator Oscar M. Morris, representing the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, John A. Hazelwood, of the state civil service commission, Mark Place of the Milwaukee civil service commission, F. J. Weber of the Milwaukee federated trades council, Ned Harvey, of Racine, representing the Wisconsin manufacturers' association, and Taylor Frye, representing the industrial commission.

There are at present only 14 private employment agencies operating in Wisconsin, the smallest number in proportion to population in the country, the commission reports. Total placements of these agencies are less than eight per cent of those made by the 11 free employment agencies conducted by the state.

Under Wisconsin law operations of private agencies are said to be strictly regulated. Thorough investigation into the character of the applicant, the need for the agency, and the suitability of the premises are required before a license is granted. Regular reports to the industrial commission are required.

GREAT NORTHERN ASKS LOAN FROM GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON—Application for a government loan of $15,000,000 was made Tuesday through the interstate commerce commission by the Great Northern railroad based on assumption that plans were shaping for railroad refunding operations which would make the money available. It would be used to repay a similar loan obtained from the government at the close of federal control.

KNEW OF FATHER'S DEFALCATION SAYS VIVIAN SPURGIN

Daughter of Missing Banker Declares She and Mother Fled to Avoid Publicity

TWO NEW CLUES UNCOVERED IN SEARCH FOR SPURGIN

May Have Gone Either to Colorado or Alabama

CHICAGO, Ill.—Vivian Spurgin, daughter of Warren C. Spurgin, missing president of the closed Michigan Avenue Trust company, who, with her mother, returned to Chicago from Detroit, where they fled following Spurgin's disappearance, has admitted that she had knowledge that her father had taken more than $500,000 of the bank's money before he fled. James E. McShane, assistant state's attorney, and Ben Newmark, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, who questioned Miss Spurgin and her mother upon their arrival here, said Wednesday.

Miss Spurgin said the information was given to her by her mother following a conference with her father during which he bade them good-bye and said he would probably never see them again.

Questioning of the women brought out that Spurgin and his wife had been estranged, that he told them he contemplated flight and turned over to them $75,000 worth of insurance papers and gave each $750 in cash and told them he would probably never see them again. They fled to avoid publicity, they asserted.

The search for Spurgin has developed two new clues, one leading to Ouray, Col., where he is said to have had mining interests, and the other to the neighborhood of Mobile, Ala., where it is said he had many friends.

CHILDREN ARE INJURED AT BIRTH IN MANY CASES

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Thousands of children become mental defectives from injury to the neck at birth, said Dr. Raymond W. Bailey, of Philadelphia, in a paper read before the pediatrics section of the national osteopathic convention here Wednesday. All of these cases can be cured by osteopathic adjustment of the neck, he declared. In these particular cases nothing else can cure them, as no other treatment could remove this cause.

Osteopathic clinics for the free treatment of these cases are to be established all over the country, announced the speaker. The osteopathic organizations expect in this way to save thousands of defective minds and restore them to efficiency.

RAIN STORM FAILS TO SPOIL LEGION DANCE AT MYRICK

Tuesday night's rain failed to dampen the ardor of many of the dancers who attended the second open-air dance given by the American Legion at the pavilion in Myrick park. Before the rain started there were more than a thousand persons either on the dance floor or near the pavilion listening to the music. Three minutes after the rain started there were about 200 dancers left in the pavilion. They were unanimous for a continuance of the dance. Water that gathered in several puddles on the floor was scooped off and—on with the dance. Commander Strehl of Roy L. Vingers post, announced that persons holding unused dance coupons may use them at the next dance.

steps to bring suit for divorce and that it was her intention to bring the children back to La Crosse and go through the suit. Mr. Wolfe said he would put in an answer to the suit and would fight the case for the father as hard as Mrs. Smith did. Hale said Mrs. Smith lived in Minneapolis because she was able to make a living there and that Mr. Smith was not being inconvenienced any more than his wife was by any delay in the case.

"Smith is a strong man and is able to work. I don't care whether he has a job now or not," said Hale. "His wife is entitled to temporary alimony, attorney fees and suit money. I intend to get them from Smith when the order for them is heard. If I can't get them I am going to put him in jail."

Smith, in the cross-examination by Hale, said he had less than $25 cash to his name. However, he plans to do some canvassing that he hopes will net him some money.

FLIRTATION PROVES TO BE THE UNDOING OF BANK BURGLAR

Bandit Captured by Aid of Car Number Noted by Marshfield Girl

HELD UP BANK EMPLOYES AND MADE OFF WITH $1,700

Arrested When Overheated Motor Forced Him to Stop

MARSHFIELD, Wis.—John May, alleged to be the bank robber who held up the American National bank here Tuesday and escaped with $1,700, was taken to Wisconsin Rapids county seat of Wood county, by Sheriff Mueller Wednesday morning for arraignment.

The bank bandit, was brought here Tuesday night by Under Sheriff Wesley of Taylor county. The alleged bandit was captured after his overheated motor had forced him to stop. He waited for the pursuing car to come to him, and it is alleged admitted the theft saying he had planned to rob banks at Waupaca and Stevens Point, but lost his nerve.

At Marshfield the alleged bandit loitered about the bank lobby for several moments nervously watching the movements of a woman customer, police said. As she left he is reported to have pushed a small caliber revolver through the cashier's cage, ordering him and three other clerks, one of them a woman to throw up their hands, as he gathered all of the money on the counter into his pocket.

No attempt to force the bank employes into the vault or another portion of the room as a precaution was made.

Sped From Bank

Having collected his loot, the man walked quickly to the waiting car and sped from the city.

The alarm was given immediately and more than a score of citizens took up the chase in automobiles. He was traced by telephone as far as Westboro.

Reports of the robbery were spread broadcast in the northern part of the state, causing farmers as well as village and county officials to start an immediate search for him.

The number of the car was reported as a result of a flirtation he had with a young woman in a store adjoining the bank at Marshfield before staging the robbery, it is said. The young woman, without suspecting his purpose, took down the license number, which later aided authorities in tracing him.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Tetley returned home Sunday after a month's tour of the northern part of Minnesota. Mr. Tetley spent a week at the University of Minnesota at the post graduate course of embalming and plastic and demi-surgery work, and returned home with an exclusive new gray hearse for the funeral service home of Tetley, Sletten & Dahl.

PELLAGRA EPIDEMIC THREATENS COTTON BELT SAYS CUMMING

Radical Relief Measures Necessary Declares U. S. Surgeon General

WASHINGTON—Surgeon General Cumming of the public health service was prepared to report to President Harding Wednesday on the result of preliminary conferences with Red Cross officials and others as to necessary measures to meet the reported threat of a pellagra epidemic in a large section of the southern cotton belt.

Despite protests from eight southern states that the seriousness of the situation had been exaggerated in several reports, Surgeon General Cumming said the public health service still stood by its prediction that unless radical relief measures were taken there would be at least 100,000 pellagra victims in the cotton belt this year and that ten per cent would die.

GERMAN WARSHIPS REPORTED FIRED ON BY RUSSIAN FORTS

BERLIN.—By The Associated Press.—The German mine sweeping fleet which has been operating in the Kola Bight on the Northern Russian coast, is reported in a special dispatch from Vardoe, Norway, to have been fired on by Russian land forts. The German fleet returned the fire, but no damage is reported on either side.

The German fleet, which left Wilhelmshaven a week ago to clear the White sea of mines under the provisions of the Versailles treaty, has retired to Vardoe to await further developments, the dispatch says.

END OF CHICAGO'S BUILDING TRADES DISPUTE AT HAND

Formal Acceptance of Landis Conditions Expected at Today's Conference

RULES THAT STRIKES CANNOT BE USED IN WAGE DISPUTES

Call on Unions to Fill Strike Vacancies

CHICAGO.—Formal acceptance of conditions laid down by Judge K. M. Landis, arbiter in the Chicago Building Trades controversy, by both unions and contractors at a meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon, is expected to bring an end to the city's building deadlock, in existence to a greater or less extent since May 1 when contractors declared a lockout following refusal of employes to accept a wage cut.

At a preliminary conference on Tuesday both sides expressed themselves as willing to accept the principles regarding working conditions laid down by Judge Landis. Contracts amounting to millions of dollars have been held up by the trouble.

The outstanding provisions of the tentative agreements include clauses providing that strikes shall not result from wage disputes. If there is such a dispute the workmen would remain on the job until Judge Landis decided the issue.

It would be further provided that if the men walked out the employers would call on the unions to fill the vacancies. Failure of the unions to replace the strikers within forty-eight hours would give the employers the right to hire non-union labor.

SALOONKEEPERS PLAN TO TEST NEW DRY LAW

MANITOWOC, Wis. — Declaring that the legislature violated constitutional rights of saloon men in enacting the Severson prohibition enforcement measure, saloonkeepers of the city holding Class A permits will join in an association organized for their defense. The organization will give financial backing to a test case in the courts against the provision of the law requiring removal of bars and curtains. The movement was started at Sheboygan, where a $750 defense fund was raised. The organization is expected to spread over the state, those interested said.

MILWAUKEE CATCHER LEAVES THE CLUB

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—"Nig" Clarke, catcher for the Milwaukee American association baseball team, has jumped the club at Louisville, according to word received by the Milwaukee Journal Wednesday. No reason was given for Clarke's action. He is believed to have left for his home in Detroit. Clarke was one of the mainstays of the club and formerly played on the Pittsburgh National league team.

Miss Ruth Iverson left for her home in Lanesboro, Minn., after spending a few days with Miss Anna Polacek.

BREAKS RECORD

Lieutenant Hirsch, French aviator, sought to break the world's altitude record. He reached an altitude of 34,768 feet, but as observers were lacking his record has not been certified as official. Thus 33,113 feet, reached by Major R. W. Schroeder, U. S. A., at Dayton, Ohio, 18 months ago still stands as official.

Yes, Where?

Joseph and Isaac went to hear Billy Sunday preach, and after the service, as they were going home, Joseph said:

"Vell, Isaac, vat you t'ink of him?"

"I don't like him," said Isaac. "Too much hell. It was hell, hell, hell all the time. I don't believe there is any hell, Joseph."

"No hell?" asked Joseph in amazement.

"No," answered his friend.

"Vell, then, Isaac," said Joseph, "if there is no hell, where is bizness gone?"

OSTEOPATH TELLS OF HIS NEW METHOD OF DRAINING THE LARYNX

Declares New Discovery Has Produced Satisfactory Results in Throat Diseases

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Dr. C. W. Young of Grand Junction, Col., Wednesday described to the delegates at the annual convention of the American Osteopathic association his newly discovered method of draining the larynx of abnormal secretions.

By placing his finger in the upper surface of the larynx or behind it, Dr. Young said he makes the patient cough with a strong expulsion effort which causes the larnyx to drain.

Results have been secured by this technique in bronchitis, asthma, goitre, loss of voice, whooping cough, tuberculosis and other affections of the lungs and throat, Dr. Young claims.

Dr. Jeanette H. Bolles of Denver declared health is the foundation of all happiness and success. The foundation for health, she said, depends upon inheritance; personal hygiene or right living, and public hygiene or right community health habits.

"Aside from accidents and injuries to the body, deformities may be produced by bad posture, which may result from wearing high heels, standing on one foot or roller skating on one foot," Dr. Bolles said.

The increased prevalence of divorce in proportion to the growing wealth of the country was attributed by Dr. E. E. Tucker of New York to a change in function of the pituitary glands. He said this little organ is about the size of a pea and is hidden on the under side of the brain.

Going Down!

A Scotchman who was noted as a skeptic had erected a massive mausoleum for his final rest and one day he observed an elder of the kirk gazing at it. "Strong place that, hey David?" he said. "It'll tak a mon some time tae raise 'up oot o' that at the Day o' Judgment." "Hoot mon," said David, "ye can gie yersel little fash aboot raisin' when that day comes. They'll tak the bottom oot o' it and let you fa' doon."

OSHKOSH HAS BIG DAY
OSHKOSH, Wis.—It was the biggest circus day Tuesday that Oshkosh ever experienced. So far as this city is concerned, the circus war is over and both the Barnes Wild Animal circus and the Sells-Floto circus did a fine business, both attracting large crowds to all performances. Local street cars carried the largest crowds ever conveyed on a circus day here, the patronage on the cars being estimated at between 10,000 and 12,000 persons. The rival shows played within half a block of each other.

VISITING HURLERS TOUCHED FREELY IN TWILIGHT CONTEST

Fitzke in Poor Condition Allows Sparta Batsmen Eight Safeties

FLOOD CLOUTED FOR SIX HITS IN INITIAL FRAME

Locals Score Six Each in First and Sixth Innings

In a free hitting contest void of any spectacular features, the La Crosse baseball club defeated the Sparta aggregation in a twilight game at Copeland park Tuesday evening, 12 to 5.

Local batsmen started from the beginning to clout Flood all over the lot, connecting for six safeties which netted as many runs in the initial frame. The locals made their scores in two innings, the first and the fourth, counting six runs in each. The game was called at the end of the seventh on account of darkness.

Becker, La Crosse's new second baseman, has all the earmarks of a real player for the position, but in his earnest endeavor to make good in his first appearance, let two easy chances slip under his glove.

Fitzke, having gained somewhat of a reputation as a hurling ace in this section, did not come up to specifications yesterday, allowing the visitors eight safeties and causing but three batsmen to "hit the air." The Bangor hurler had little on the ball in the way of speed or curve in the twilight game last evening.

Flood, foreign material secured by Sparta, was evidently stage-struck in the first inning, when the locals touched him for six hits and crossed the plate as many times. He sufficiently recovered to hold a fighter check in the next two innings but was given another jolt in the fourth, when the locals knocked the cover off for six more. Flood offered good batting practice, as did Graf after the first two men had faced him.

Sheron, Sparta catcher, is deserving of credit for his ability to peg second, holding local batsmen close around first. Davey was caught in an attempted steal. Sims, regular pitcher for the Sparta aggregation, featured in the batting game for the visitors, garnering three hits in four chances, one being a clean triple. Johnson and Shimshak added three base hits to the list. La Crosse batted around and over in the first and sixth innings of the game.

La Crosse's six scores in the first frame were the result of three singres, three doubles and a triple. Flood filled the bases in the fourth with a walk, hitting a batsman and allowing a single.

Weigent came up for a single resulting in two scores. Krause walked again, filling the bases, and Davey was forced to the plate when Safford was given first base. Weisse's single added two more to the list and the Sparta management pulled Flood out of the box. Graf amused the fans with his peculiar form but nevertheless, hurled in good style. He struck out Fitzke, first man up and Becker flied out to left. Shimshak received a walk and Safford scored on an overthrow to first by the catcher. Fuchs walked and Davey ended the inning with a strikeout. Fuchs made two difficult catches in right field.

La Crosse plays at Genoa Sunday.

LUCKY ROSE CREW OF WINONA HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

The Lucky Rose outfit of Winona, ably supported by the Vondrashek and Presser battery, famous for their ability to check every string of batsmen they have faced this season, is the aggregation the Nelson clothing company baseball team has taken upon itself to endeavor to master in a twilight ball game at Copeland park Thursday evening.

Schultz, twilight pitcher for the locals and one who has won warm admiration among twilight baseball patrons, will hurl for the local club. In all probability, the game will be a duel between the Western Wisconsin league hurler and Vondrashek.

According to "dope" at the headquarters of the Nelson team, the local batsmen are going to have plenty of respect for Vondrashek in the box and regard him as the foremost obstacle they have encountered this season. Come out for the game.

HERMAN REGAINS BANTAM CROWN IN BROOKLYN FIGHT

Gives Joe Lynch Sound Trouncing at Ebbetts Field; Has Edge from Opening Bell

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—Pete Herman of New Orleans regained the bantamweight championship of the world by soundly trouncing Titleholder Joe Lynch of New York in fifteen rounds at Ebbets field Tuesday night. Herman led right from the opening bell, and except for a few flashes here and there when Lynch managed to rock the little Italian with right hand smashes to the jaw, Lynch slowly but surely was passing back the title to the aggressive little Herman, from whom he wrested it December 22, 1920, at Madison Square Garden.

In the very first round Herman stepped right out and rapped Joseph with a series of left and right smashes to the face. During one of the warm scrimmages in the opening frame Lynch went to the floor, but it was believed it resulted from a slip rather than from one of the little Italian's blows. However, that flop did not help Lynch any in the final reckoning.

Herman Has Close Call

During the rest of the journey Joseph had the utmost respect for the sharp shots being sent through by Herman. In the second round Lynch managed to grab Peter with a hard straight punch to the jaw, and as Herman reeled back and fell against the ropes it looked as though Joe was going to take his man, and take him early, but the hope of Lynch followers was short lived.

Herman fought himself back to the center of the ring with a fury that almost swept Lynch off his feet, and before the end of the round, was battling on even terms with the lean New Yorker.

It was noticeable from the fourth round that Lynch did very little execution with his right hand, depending almost exclusively on his southpaw in trying to offset the vicious attacks of his smaller opponent.

Lynch's Right Hand Injured

It was reported at the end of the fight that Lynch had fractured a small bone in his right hand during the third round, and he was compelled to favor that member considerably afterward.

From the seventh round on it was all Herman. He rocked and staggered Lynch with ripping uppercuts, accompanied by hard right smashes to the head.

Once in the thirteenth round Lynch, in desperation, chased the new champion, realizing that his last hope had flown. Joe leaped at Herman, throwing all caution to the winds, and tried with both hands to bring down Peter, but the latter was too strong.

Sweden had a coin of 1730 weighing six and one-half pounds.

ENGLISH PROFESSIONALS BEAT EVANS AND MAYO ON TUESDAY AT EDGEWATER GOLF COURSE

CHICAGO, Ill.—London is now two up on Chicago.

The visiting British professional golfers, Abe Mitchell and George Duncan, again brought defeat to a pair of local stars yesterday. On their home course two Edgewater stars, Chick Evans, amateur, and Charlie Mayo, professional, went down to defeat before the two Englishmen, 2 up and 1 to play. The score was not so disastrous as on Sunday, when Evans and Phil Gandin went down, 7 to 5, at Skokie.

Two Eagles by Local Pair

The brand of golf was better than in Sunday's match, and while there were fewer phenomenal shots, the game was a bit faster, and was a real battle. At one time the Chicago pair were ahead, but they were only able to maintain their advantage for two holes.

An eagle by Evans on the twentieth hole squared the match, and when Mayo made an eagle on the twenty-fourth, Chick and Charlie took a lead of 1 up. When Duncan holed out in two strokes on the twenty-sixth that squared the match again, and the local pair were never close to a win after that.

Par for the course is 72, and on both rounds George Duncan brought home beautiful cards of 69. Evans had a similar total for the afternoon round. Evans took 70 and 69, Mayo a pair of 73's, and Mitchell 73 and 70. The visitors won both rounds by best ball score, with's 66, followed by a 64. Evans and Mayo required 67 and 66. A near gale seemed to bother the players little.

Duncan the Big Star

Duncan was easily the star of the day, showing a much finer quality of game than in his Skokie play. He drove almost even with the long clouting Mitchell, pitched inside of the other three men time and again, and his putting was a thing of beauty. With his quick jab stroke he controlled his ball on the velvet with miraculous skill. Not once did he need more than two putts, and often his pitches and chips were so close that one putt brought home the bacon.

Mitchell Wins First Hole

Mitchell won the first hole by sinking a 15 foot putt for a three, one under par. Both Evans and Duncan scored birdies on the second. Evans driving to the green and Duncan going dead with a chip shot. Mayo evened the match on the fourth, when his tee shot dropped five feet from the flag and he went down in a birdie 2.

Fine Recovery by Mayo

A beautiful iron shot by Mayo saved the tenth hole, after his brassie had hooked to a bunker. He halved it with Duncan, both 1 under par. It took par 4s on the eleventh, with Evans and Duncan missing 30 yard putts by one clover leaf. Evans reached the 505 yard thirteenth green with his brassie second hand into the wind, but Duncan approached inside of him and they halved with birdie 4s.

Mitchell missed a four foot putt on the fifteenth for a birdie, but on the sixteenth Evans and Duncan were both under par with fine approaches. The match was squared when the lunch bell rang on the eighteenth, with Mayo and Evans taking par 4s. Both of the London tourists were trapped and required 5s.

WALKER SETS NEW COURSE RECORD

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y.—Cyril Walker, Englewood, N. J., professional, set a new competitive course record in the opening round of the Metropolitan Golf association open championship tournament at Siwanoy Tuesday, turning in 68 for the eighteen holes.

Walter Hagen of Detroit, holder of the Metropolitan title, had a 70.

John Farrell of the Quaker City club had a 71 and Joe McDonald of Bob O'Link, Chicago, 73. Jim Barnes, national open champion, was fourth on the day's list, with a 74. He made the 190 yard thirteenth hole in two.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Philadelphia and Detroit played a three run tie game on Tuesday, rain stopping the contest in the eleventh inning after Detroit had started to bat. The Athletics scored all their runs in the first inning. Witt, first up, got a home run into the bleachers, and after Welch was hit by a pitched ball, C. Walker duplicated Witt's drive, the ball bounding into the stand. Two errors by the Philadelphia players aided the visitors in tieing the score in the seventh. Score:

HARDING MESSAGE MEANS DEATH OF FARM BILL, CLAIM

President Suggests Powers of War Corporation be Extended to Apply to Farm Credits

PROPONENTS OF NORRIS BILL TO FIGHT FOR ITS PASSAGE

Action on Railroad Request Expected Within Fortnight

WASHINGTON.— President Harding's special message to congress on railroad and farm financing was regarded by many republican leaders in the senate as having dealt a final death blow to the Norris bill to create a $100,000,000 farm export corporation.

The president in his message, suggested that the powers of the war finance corporation be extended to cover all phases of farm credits and the bill containing such a provision, introduced Tuesday by Senator Kellogg, republican, Minnesota, was said to have the approval of the administration. It was drafted by Secretary Hoover and Director Meyer of the finance corporation and will, in the opinion of many republican senators as expressed today, be substituted for the Norris bill, which Secretary Hoover condemned and Secretary Wallace failed to endorse before the senate agricultural committee.

Champions of the Norris bill said they would relent not one whit in the fight in behalf of their measure. They had ready to be voted on a series of amendments designed to eliminate provisions severely criticised during the debate. The Kellogg measure also will be voted on as an amendment to the Norris bill.

Just when congress would be able to take up the second request embodied in the president's message—the extension of the war finance corporation's powers to permit it to fund about $500,000,000 of railroad indebtedness to the government—still was uncertain. Leaders said there probably would be action within a fortnight.

BLACK AND YELLOW TRAIL WILL PASS THROUGH THE CITY

New Route on the Other Side of the River is Selected to Include Winona

The Black and Yellow trail, according to a resolution introduced by Dr. Norris of Tracy, Minn., at the annual convention of the trail association at Tracy, will in the future follow the new highway from Lewiston to Stockton, then over the Stockton hill into Winona and from Winona down the Minnesota side of the Mississippi river crossing at La Crosse into Wisconsin. Officials of the trail will mark it over this route in the near future, Ned Youmans, Winona county's representative at the meeting states.

Another important change in the route made at the convention was that between La Crosse and Baraboo. The new route will go over trunk highways 12 and 21 passing through Sparta, the Dells of Wisconsin, and on to Baraboo.

Winona was the only city between Sparta and Owaronna represented at the convention. More than 125 delegates were present. It was one of the biggest meetings in the history of the trail. The next convention will be held at Buffalo, Wyc.

The states through which the trail passes during the present year will raise $2,500 each for marking and advertising. This money will be raised proportionately to the population of each county.

UNLOADING FURNITURE ON SUNDAY FORBIDDEN BY ZION CITY RULES

ZION CITY, Ill.—Unloading furniture in Zion on Sunday is prohibited. Joseph Sadorf of Milwaukee had his furniture shipped to Zion and the storage concern brought it here last Sunday. The driver was warned that to unload it would be a violation of the law and went to the police station to get a permit to take the furniture from the van. This was refused and the first piece of furniture was taken from the wagon at 12:05 Monday morning.

Zion also forbids the hauling of passengers from the depot on Sunday, the only use to which a taxi can be put being to go to and from church.

The first bottles were made of skin. Stone cannon balls were used 450 years ago in a Turkish war. Alexander the Great was the first man to have his portrait on a coin.

An appealing Polish immigrant girl is the character portrayed by Miss Brady in "The Land of Hope," her latest release, which is scheduled for a three day run, beginning Thursday at the Rivoli theater.

WM. FARNUM—STRAND

One of the most exciting scenes in the big William Fox production of "If I Were King," at the Strand today and Thursday, is that in which William Farnum, the noted Fox star, engages in a duel in a darkened tavern. Mr. Farnum is an expert swordsman. Any one in the theatrical profession will tell you that, far back in the days when William was so popular in the spoken drama on Broadway and throughout the country, his dueling scenes were famous. When Walter Law was engaged for the part of Thibault and Claude Payton for role of Montiguey in the production, they knew they would have to cross swords with Farnum—and, being veteran actors, knew also that these scenes would not be child's play. Both began to practice. Farnum told them he would practice with them, so they would make the dueling scenes beyond criticism. They re at it for days before Director J. G. Edwards was ready for the scenes. When the call came for the duel in the darkened tavern Farnum and Law went at it as if it were real. The cameras ground for half an hour and at the end of that time Walter Law declared he wanted the remainder of the day off. Farnum, too, was tired enough to agree.

NEW JUBILEE SHOW AT THE RIVIERA, TODAY, THURSDAY

The Jubilee Girls offer the musical oddity, "The Hotel Topsy-Turvy" at the Riviera today and Thursday. Lillian Bessent has several solos, raggy stuff that gets your mind a million miles away from dull care and worry. Conrad Hipp and Harry Bowers also are provided with song numbers that are highly entertaining.

The feature picture is Tex, elucidator of mysteries, in "The Trail of the Cigaret." The Riviera orchestra and the comedy, "Beat It," complete the program.

WM. FAIRBANKS—CASINO

William Fairbanks, in "Fighting Bill," at the Casino today, stages a fight with six men. You don't see them waiting for their turn to jump in and fight, but you see them all together, clawing, scratching and kicking, a regular he-man fight, and you will see Bill Fairbanks, bloody, bruised and beaten, but in the end victorious.

BOSTON, Mass.—Pennock weakened in the tenth inning on Tuesday, Cleveland making eight hits for six runs and beating Boston 8 to 2. Evans made two singles in the extra inning. Score:

FORT SNELLING, Minn.—D. J. Dalton, of Warsaw, Ind., won the amateur trap-shooting championship of the second Great Lakes zone tournament, breaking 195 of 200 targets.

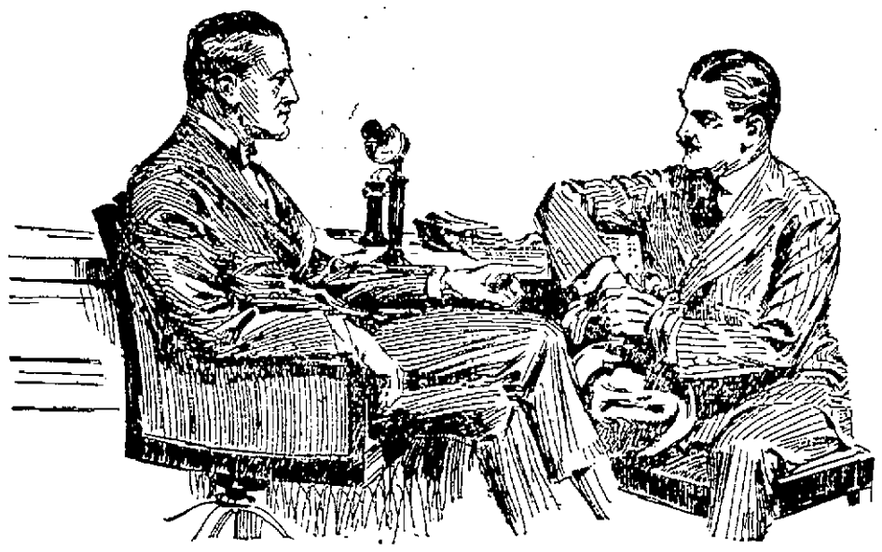
FREE A 10-Shave Tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream

At the Store listed below



1,000 Men Were Asked

"What is your conception of the ideal shaving cream?"

For many years we have been making the ideal toilet soap. We blended palm and olive oils—the balmy cosmetics of age-old fame. And millions of people have adopted this Palmolive Soap.

Six years ago we started to embody this blend in a shaving cream. And the first step was to ask a thousand men the virtues they wanted in it.

These were their requirements:

First, a quick shave

Nine-tenths of these men wanted quick shaves, above all. They did not like long brushing, finger rubbing, hot towels and delay.

So a cream was made which acts in one minute. Within that time the average beard absorbs 15% of water. And that is enough. This result is due to almost instant oil removal—the oil that coats the beard.

Next, liberal lather

Next, they wanted liberal lather. And they wanted a little of the soap to go far.

So we developed a cream which multiplies itself 250 times in lather. A bit on the brush—only one-half gram—suffices for a shave. A single tube of Palmolive Shaving Cream serves for 152 shaves.

Lather that remains

Then they wanted a lather which maintains itself without drying on the face.

So we perfected a lather which maintains its creamy fullness for ten minutes. That is ample time. This lather does not need replacement.

A soothing soap

They wanted a soothing shaving cream. They wanted a lubricated razor, no irritation, a pleasant after-effect.

The best way ever known to those ends is the blend of palm and olive oils. The lather is a lotion in itself.

130 creams were made

We are experts in soap making. But it took us 18 months to attain this ideal shaving cream. 130 formulas were made up and tested. Thus step by step these supremacies were attained, and the best shaving cream in existence.

Now we ask you to test it. Learn in how many ways it excels. It will lead the way to a lifetime of delightful shaves.

STOCKS UNDER PRESSURE

Losses in Day's Trading Range From One to Eight Points

NEW YORK—United Drug increased its loss to eight and three-quarter points on the stock exchange Wednesday before supporting orders brought about a feeble rally. Pressure was directed against Central Leather common and preferred, Sears-Roebuck, General Electric, United Fruit, American Sugar and American Tobacco, in which losses ranged from one to two and one-half points. Popular steels and equipments were firm. High grade oils held their ground, but some of the cheaper domestic issues eased. Rails were apathetic at trifling gains and losses. Call money opened at five per cent, the lowest initial rate of the week.

Acute weakness in United Drug shares which opened at a further loss of 6¼ points and soon extended its decline to 7¾ points was the striking feature of the early dealings in the stock market. Among the more popular issues advances predominated. United States Steel gained a substantial fraction and Baldwin Locomotive, American Woolen and United Retail Stores were firm. Bethlehem Steel, Studebaker and Central Leather were inclined to ease. Foreign exchange was little altered, save for a sharp break in the Italian rate.

Leaders forfeited part of their gains later, although call money eased to 4½ per cent. Obscure specialties, including American Car and Pressed Steel Car developed further weakness. The close was irregular.

WHEAT MARKET STRONGER

Steadiness Develops on Reports That Peak of Receipts Has Been Reached

CHICAGO, Ill.—Fresh strength developed in the wheat market Wednesday owing more or less to assertions that the peak of large receipts had been passed. Besides new export buying was noted. Opinion also prevailed that recent sales to Europe had been far in excess of the totals announced. Opening quotations which varied from ⅛c decline to ⅜s advance with September $1.23½ to ¾ and December $1.26½ to $1.27, were followed by a material upturn.

Subsequently bullish aspecs of the government weekly crop report led to an additional advance. The market closed nervous, 2c to 3¾c net higher with September $1.27 to ¼ and December $1.28¾ to $1.29.

Corn hardened with wheat despite news of showers over night. After starting ⅛c off to ⅛c up including September at 61c the market scored slight gains.

Later the urgent need of rain in Iowa, Indiana and other important states had a bullish influence. Prices closed unsettled ¼c to 1c net higher with September 61⅝c.

Oats were steadied by the firmness of other cereals. The market opened unchanged to ⅛c lower, September 39¼ to ⅛c and then turned up grade.

Higher prices on hogs gave strength to provisions.

Three Crops of Corn Per Year

On account of excessive rains oats cannot be grown in the Philippine islands; rust affects it. Corn grows well; Filipino farmers can harvest three crops a year from a single piece of ground. To keep it, it is necessary to leave it in the husk, otherwise weevils destroy it. It is tied in bundles and hung on bamboo poles and husked and shelled as needed. Corn mills are now being established in the Visayan Islands, where the natives prefer cornmeal to rice as a staple food.

Shoes Worn By Chinese Women

Many young Chinese women have adopted western shoes, but those who grew up in the days before foot binding was forbidden still wear the tiny, resplendently embroidered shoes that have no counterpart in all the world. Roughly, these shoes are of two types: One, which has a fair-sized heel made on the shoe for outdoor wear; and another, which has no heel, for indoor use. The latter, however, may be fitted with a loose heel held in position by tapes if the lady wishes to walk abroad.

WISCONSIN RULING QUOTED IN CASE OF ILLINOIS GOVERNOR

Governor Amenable to Law When Outside Scope of Executive Duties, Holds Marshall

RULING MADE IN FAMOUS EKERN-M'GOVERN CASE

Governor Attempted to Remove Insurance Commissioner

MADISON, Wis.—A decision of the Wisconsin supreme court was one of the main precedents cited in the case of Gov. Small against Illinois, in holding that the governor who breaks law is subject to arrest. The opinion cited is that of the famous Ekern-McGovern case in which Gov. McGovern sought to remove Insurance Commissioner Herman Ekern from office on charges of political activities. It was claimed that no legal action could reach the governor but in one of the most voluminous opinions ever filed in supreme court, Justice R. D. Marshall held to the contrary.

"The executive is absolutely free from judicial interference within the scope of his duties," Justice Marshall said. "To that extent the court will not attempt to invade his realm to enjoin him, to mandate him, or prohibit him.

"But when he steps aside from the sphere of his duty and violates the law, he is amenable to the law the same as any other person. The scope of his duty does not extend to breaking the law.

"Whenever there is a violation of the law perpetrated or threatened," Justice Marshall continued, "it is competent for the courts to apply a remedy. It is not bound to desist—indeed it has no right to desist—because perchance, of the violator being the governor of the state or his agent, for then the offender is outside the scope of his duty, and, as before indicated, he is a mere individual, regardless of his name or title."

Michael B. Olbrich, executive counsel for Governor Blaine, and attorney for Ekern when former Governor McGovern attempted to eject him from office, declares that Small's attorneys are taking exactly the same stand that McGovern's attorneys took.

AUSTRALIANS DEFEAT CANADA IN DECIDING MATCH OF NET CLASH

TORONTO, Ont.—The Australian tennis team, by virtue of its victory over Canada in the doubles match today, won the right to meet the British team at Pittsburgh in the second round of the Davis cup competition next week. The Australian pair won in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

The Australians had won two singles matches in the opening day's play Saturday.

Strong Back Court Players

L. D. Anderson and V. G. Todd of the Australian team were the victors today in the doubles over Paul Bennett and G. D. Holmes. The Australians were speedy servers and showed splendid back court play. Tennis experts here believe they will give the British team a hard battle.

In the first set the Canadians were able only to take the second and fifth games, and it was apparent that the visiting team would win. Several of the games went to deuce.

Speed Up in Last Set

The Canadians improved in the second set, capturing the first, fifth, and seventh games, but in the last set the speed of the Australian pair carried them along in five straight games before dropping the sixth.

Bennett played a forceful game, but many of his drives went out. The service of Anderson gave the Australians many points.

ANNOUNCE EXAMS FOR PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES AUGUST 2ND

MADISON, Wis.—A state examination for public health nurses will be held August 2 at the Health Service building, Milwaukee, under direction of the state board of health. About 25 candidates are listed.

The old law requiring candidates for county nurse positions to be examined for their competency has been enlarged upon to bring all public health nurses under the state requirements. This is the first examination held under the new law.

ASHES OF CHAFIN BROUGHT TO BADGER CITY FOR BURIAL

WAUKESHA, Wis.—The cremated remains of Eugene W. Chafin, noted temperance leader and several times candidate for president of the United States on the prohibition ticket, arrived here Wednesday. Mr. Chafin died November 30, 1920, in California, the result of burns sustained while attempting to adjust a gas heater. Final rites will take place next Monday p. m. at Prairie Home cemetery.

LANDLORDS ASK FEE FOR PRIVILEGE OF INSPECTING ROOMS

TORONTO.—Some landlords here are asking prospective tenants $2 for the privilege of looking at apartments.

Complaining to the newspapers about it, one house hunter said a landlord told him the $2 would not apply on the rent if he should accept the apartment.

"I charge you $2 to look at the place," said the landlord. "It has nothing to do with the rent."

EMERY DECLARES HE HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH THE DRY LAWS

Says His Department Will Take No Part in Enforcement of Prohibition

MADISON, Wis.—The dairy and food commissioner will not take part in enforcement of the prohibition laws, J. Q. Emery, commissioner, says in a statement Tuesday, following publication of a story saying that saloonkeepers were violating the pure food laws.

"It may be conceded that in the sale of 'drinks' saloonkeepers may violate the pure food laws, but if so that violation is a wholly different proposition than the violation of the prohibition law," says the statement.

"The laws specifically define the duties of the dairy and food commissioner, but no law makes it his official duty to enforce the prohibition law. It is not his legal function to enforce the prohibition law and it would be malfeasance in office for him to expend money for other purposes than those for which the legislature has appropriated."

ORGANIZED LABOR TO DANCE ON SATURDAY AT YEOMEN HALL

Organized labor in La Crosse will give a big dance in Yeomen hall next Saturday night. Arrangements for the big party have been completed by the committee in charge. A fine orchestra has been engaged to play for the dancers. F. O. Wells, organizer, asks that members having tickets for the dance report on the ticket sale on Friday night, July 29.

URGES FARMERS TO CONSULT ATTORNEY ON GRAIN CONTRACTS

CHICAGO, Ill.—A special executive committee of the Grain Dealers' National association is meeting here Wednesday to hear the report of Chairman R. L. Mansfield on the work done towards advising farmers of the danger of signing contracts concerning the marketing of their grain without first consulting a lawyer or banker.

Plans for continuing the work are being discussed. These include sending men into farmers' communities to lecture on grain marketing and the pointing out that overthrow of the present system of grain marketing before a new system is instituted means economic chaos.

Making History.

INFANT MORTALITY in past ages has been something frightful, something almost beyond belief, and even today it occupies the time and the mind of leading physicians in all countries. The death rate among infants is being gradually reduced through new methods of hygiene, new preventatives and new remedies for infants. This reduction in the death rate has NOT been accomplished by adapting the precautions taken and remedies used by adults. Rather has it been to keep clear of the old methods, and choose after long research the precautions and remedies specifically applicable to infants.

This being so, is it necessary for us to caution mothers against trying to give her baby relief with a remedy that she would use for herself? Will she remember that Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for infants and children?

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Of Course You Love Your Baby.

You love it because of its very helplessness, because it can't tell you what is the matter when it feels bad. It can only cry and look to you for help. But the more you love baby, the more you want to help baby, the more you ought to realize what a wonderful remedy Fletcher's Castoria is. It has been used for babies' ailments for over thirty years.

An experienced doctor discovered Fletcher's Castoria especially for babies' use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Doctors who know what is safe and best for babies have only good to say of it.

Don't neglect your baby. Get a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria and give baby a few doses of it. See how the little one smiles at you as if trying to thank you for helping it. Soon you will learn to depend on Fletcher's Castoria, made just for Infants and Children, and of course you would not think of using anything for them that was not prepared especially for Infants and Children. So keep it in the house.

LITTLE CHANGE IS SHOWN IN BADGER CROPS DURING WEEK

MADISON, Wis.—Growing crops show little change from a week ago, states the Wisconsin Co-operative Crop Reporting Service. In some southern counties, hot, dry weather continues to "burn up" crops. Corn needs rain in many counties, while in other counties it is filling well. Potatoes have been revived by rain in northern commercial districts, but are drying up in the central districts. The threshing of spring grains has begun in southern Wisconsin. Considerable acreage is being cut for hay and much will not be cut at all. Shortage of hay is being made up to some extent by the cutting of grains for hay and by increased acreage of wild and emergency hay crops cut. Cabbage prospect continues doubtful. Onion crops will be short. Sugar beets below average.

You can't convince a farmer laws are made for the good of the country.
